Overview
This seminar examines women in Canadian politics in the twentieth century. Politics is widely defined to include electoral politics, grassroots organization, and policy development. We will also have the opportunity to speak with women who have experience in politics.

Required Texts
There is no course textbook. All readings are available through the library.

Evaluation
Class participation 30%
Research Proposal 20%
Paper Presentation 15%
Research Paper 35%
Assignments

All assignments are to be double-spaced and written in Times New Roman 12-point font. Students will upload their assignments to D2L by midnight of the due date.

I expect that all papers will have a clear thesis statement, be well-organized, have a logical argument, and follow the standard requirements for references in your field.

Deadlines are firm, but students who make arrangements with me in person at least one week before the assignment is due may receive an extension if I deem the circumstances to be appropriate. Late papers will lose 0.5 of the 4.00 grade point system per day.

Class Participation

Student participation and attendance is essential for a successful seminar. Take notes when you read and come to class with 2 critical questions to ask the class. In the weeks with guest speakers, take time to do research on the speakers and prepare questions for them. We are lucky that these women had made time in their busy schedules to speak to you. Please prepare questions about gender and politics and policy development.

Proposal and Document Analysis (1,250 words)

Due February 16th

The major research paper will be based on primary research – archival research or based on a data set appropriate to a political science course. Students may examine women’s political participation in electoral politics, grassroots politics, or women and policy. The proposal will present the research questions, a preliminary literature review or historiography, and bibliography. This is a major research paper, so your bibliography should include at least 15 peer-reviewed secondary sources. The paper will also include a critical analysis of the primary sources for your paper that explains how the sources will help you answer your research questions and the methodological limitations of the sources.

Major Research Paper

Presentation & Peer Review

In the last two weeks of the semester, students will present their research and provide critical feedback to each other. The draft of your e-mail is due on the Monday before your presentation. It will be posted on D2L on Tuesday. Students presenting in Week 13 will read the papers presented in Week 12 and vice versa. I have not attached a grade to the peer review. If you do not actively participate in the peer review, I will apply the same penalty for late papers to your participation grade. I will also provide critical feedback to help you improve the paper for final submission.

Students will prepare a 15-minute presentation based on your research paper. I expect a professional presentation – as though you are presenting at an academic conference. Do not go overtime; we need time for peer review and questions.

Final Paper (4,500 words)

Due April 19th

The final paper (4,500 not including bibliography) is due April 19th. Your final paper should address the feedback you’ve received from your peers and me. Even though the assignment will be submitted on D2L, include a title page and format it as you would a paper submitted in class.
DEPARTMENTAL GRADING SYSTEM:

The following percentage-to-letter grade conversion scheme has been adopted for use in all Canadian Studies, History, and Latin American Studies courses.

PLAGIARISM:

Plagiarism occurs when one submits or presents one’s work in a course, or ideas and/or passages in a written piece of work, as if it were one’s own work done expressly for that particular course, when, in fact, it is not. As noted in The History Student’s Handbook (http://hist.ucalgary.ca/sites/hist.ucalgary.ca/files/history_students_handbook_2015.pdf), plagiarism may take several forms:

- Failure to cite sources properly may be considered plagiarism. This could include quotations, and wording used from another source but not acknowledged.
- Borrowed, purchased, and/or ghostwritten papers are considered plagiarism, as is submitting one’s own work for more than one course without the permission of the instructor(s) involved.
- Extensive paraphrasing of one or a few sources is also considered plagiarism, even when notes are used, unless the essay is a critical analysis of those works.
- The use of notes does not justify the sustained presentation of another author’s language and ideas as one’s own.

Plagiarism is a serious academic offence and written work that appears to contain plagiarized passages will not be graded. All such work will be reported to the Faculty of Arts’ associate deans of students who will apply the penalties specified in the University of Calgary Calendar.

WRITING

This course will include written assignments. Faculty policy directs that all written assignments (including, although to a lesser extent, written exam responses) will be assessed at least partly on writing skills. Writing skills include not only surface correctness (grammar, punctuation, sentence structure, etc.) but also general clarity and organization. Research papers must be properly documented.

WRITING SUPPORT

Students are also encouraged to use Writing Support Services and other Student Success Centre Services, located on the 3rd floor of the Taylor Family Digital Library (TFDL). Writing Support Services assist with a variety of assignments, from essays to lab reports. Students can book 30-minute one-on-one appointments online, sign up for 15-minute drop-in appointments, and register for a variety of writing workshops. For more information on this and other Student Success Centre services, please visit www.ucalgary.ca/ssc.

COPYRIGHT
The University of Calgary has opted out of the Access Copyright Interim Tariff proposed by the Copyright Board. This means that instructors in all University of Calgary courses will strictly adhere to Copyright Act regulations and the educational exceptions permitted by the Act for both print and digital course material. What this simply means is that no copyrighted material may be placed on course D2L or web sites without the prior permission of the copyright holders. In some cases, this may mean that instructors will require you to purchase a print course pack from the University of Calgary bookstore or that you will have to consult books on reserve at the library. For more information on the University of Calgary’s copyright policy, see http://library.ucalgary.ca/copyright.

RED BOX POLICY

Essays and other assignments may be handed in to the red box located outside of the History Department office (Social Sciences, Room 656). Please include the following information on your assignment: 1) course name and number, 2) instructor, 3) your name and 4) your student number. Assignments received after 4:00 p.m. will be date stamped with the date of the next business day. We do not time stamp any papers. Please do not bring your paper into the office to be stamped. The box is emptied promptly at 8:30 a.m. and at 4:00 p.m. Monday to Friday.

UNIVERSAL STUDENT RATINGS OF INSTRUCTION (USRI)

At the University of Calgary, feedback provided by students through the Universal Student Ratings of Instruction survey provides valuable information to help with evaluating instruction, enhancing learning and teaching, and selecting courses (www.ucalgary.ca/usri). Your responses make a difference. Please participate in USRI surveys.

ACADEMIC ACCOMMODATIONS (IMPLEMENTED 1 JULY 2015)

The student accommodation policy can be found at: ucalgary.ca/access/accommodations/policy. Students needing an Accommodation because of a Disability or medical condition should communicate this need to Student Accessibility Services in accordance with the Procedure for Accommodations for Students with Disabilities ucalgary.ca/policies/files/policies/student-accommodation-policy. Students needing an Accommodation based on a Protected Ground other than Disability, should communicate this need, preferably in writing, to the course instructor.

CAMPUS RESOURCES FOR MENTAL HEALTH

The University of Calgary recognizes the pivotal role that student mental health plays in physical health, social connectedness and academic success, and aspires to create a caring and supportive campus community where individuals can freely talk about mental health and receive supports when needed. We encourage you to explore the excellent mental health resources available throughout the university community, such as counselling, self-help resources, peer support or skills-building available through the SU Wellness Centre (Room 370, MacEwan Student Centre, https://www.ucalgary.ca/wellnesscentre/services/mental-health-services) and the Campus Mental Health Strategy website (http://www.ucalgary.ca/mentalhealth/).
