Beyond The Lecture Hall: PSGSA Speaker Series:
Featuring Dr. Dave Snow

Friday March 27, 2015
11:00am-1:00pm
SS 729

In partnership with the Graduate Program, and the Department of Political Science, the Political Science Graduate Student Association (PSGSA) announces the third installment of its new speaker series: Beyond the Lecture Hall. The speaker series is dedicated to showcasing the work of our graduate students and aims to provide orientation to them as they work to complete their degrees and navigate their way through the challenging world of academia.

To that effect, Dr. Dave Snow, a University of Calgary Alumnus, and recent hire of the University of Guelph, will be providing a talk meant to foster professional development among our graduate students. He will be speaking about his transition from his PhD at the University of Calgary, to the job market, describing his experience going through that process. As a Killam Postdoctoral Fellow at Novel Tech Ethics in the Faculty of Medicine at Dalhousie University, he will also be able to provide some insights into the world of post-docs in an increasingly interdisciplinary world. With the gracious support of the Graduate Program and the Department of Political Science, we invite faculty and graduate students join us for our last talk of the academic year which will include a light lunch next Friday March 27, 2015 at 11:00am in SS729.

Let’s come together not only to celebrate and learn from the successes of Dr. Snow, but also to build on what has been a great launch to a new speaker series within the department.
